About

Radhika specialises in the telecom and Information Technology sector. She has extensive experience advising on telecom regulatory issues, licensing arrangements, telecom restructuring, information technology laws, laws governing telecom spectrum allocation, compliances applicable to manufacturing and deployment of telecom equipment and the legal policy on satellite communications in India.

In the corporate commercial side, she assists with due diligences, foreign direct investment approvals, telecom mergers arising from telecom merger guidelines and other contractual aspects like data privacy.

Before joining JSA, she was practicing in the various courts and tribunals in Delhi and acting on behalf of real estate companies, government & civic authorities and telecom operators in regulatory disputes, civil disputes and PILs.

Experience

Some of the key recent assignments in the areas handled by Radhika include issues arising from the government policy on satellite communications and advising companies such as Google, Meta and SpaceX with complex telecom issues. She advised Microsoft on liability of a producer under the e-waste regulations and a telecom equipment manufacturer on restructuring of the business in line with the latest telecom regulatory framework. She also advised on the amended telemarketing regulations and their applicability to a large MNC with global presence along with luxury automobile manufacturers on the laws applicable to Machine-to-Machine communications.
